

Instructional Leadership & Excellence

Other Developmental Resources: Share

Share data with students and families about student growth compared with goals students help set

Quick Resources:

Harvard Family Research Project: TIPS for Administrators, Teachers, and Families: How to Share Data Effectively (handouts)

Involve students in setting their own goals

Quick Resources:

Edutopia: SMART Goal Setting With Your Students (short article)

EdWeek: Students Assess Their Way to Learning (short article)

Cornell University, Center for Teaching Excellence: Self-Assessment (framework)

Papers & Books:

Student Self-Assessment: The Key to Stronger Student Motivation and Higher Achievement (article)

Embedded Formative Assessment, Practical Strategies and Tools for K-12 Teachers including a chapter on student focused assessment (book)

Provide frequent, timely data so students can track growth against goals

Quick Resources:

KQED/Mindshift: Making Students Partners in Data Driven Approaches to Learning (short article)

Marzano Research: Student Progress Chart (tool)

Teacher Toolkit: Student Conference (video)

Guide student choices during the year based on students' own goals and belief that students can raise their bar

Quick Resources:

Expeditionary Learning, Professional Learning Packs: Choice and Options for Students (framework & videos)

Share data with families that helps them support their children and teens at home

Quick Resources:

Edutopia: Sharing Data to Create Stronger Parent Partnerships (short article)

WestEd: Coaching parents as team members (case study)